GOVERNOR HARMON TELLS THE SENATORS TO STEP LIVELY

Chief Executive of State Urges Haste in Important Legislation

Measures Are in Line With Best Thought in the Country

SAYS PEOPLE ARE IMPATIENT

Special Message Mentions Measures Which Are In Line With Best Thought of Country and That Will Insure Perpetuity of True Government by the People—Cincinnati Representatives to Retain Seats. Committee Kills Cold Storage Bill.

Columbus, O., April 7.—In a special message to the senate, Governor Harmon intimates quite plainly that a little more alacrity in passing measures in the interest of popular government would be highly acceptable to the people of Ohio regardless of party affiliations.

Special attention of senators was called to measures for the nonpartisan election of delegates to the constitutional convention and their nomination by petition only; the abolition of party emblems in all municipal elections; smaller city councils; statewide primaries for the nomination of all public officials and the direct election of United States senators, under the Oregon plan.

In conclusion, the governor says: "These measures are in line with the best thought of the country, which is devoting itself with increasing earnestness to the betterment of conditions in order that government by the people shall bear its full fruitage of benefits and thereby insure its perpetuity.

"I am certain the people of the state generally, without regard to party or other divisions, earnestly desire the passage of these measures and will not be content to wait two years for them."

The message was, on motion of Mr. Reynolds, received and printed in the journal for the day.

Representative White of Sandusky county introduced a statewide primary bill in the house. It is practically the same as the Stockwell bill, defeated in the senate Tuesday. The rules were suspended and the bill was referred to the elections committee.

Would Reinstate Thatcher.

The senate, 24 to 6, passed the bill which would reinstate at the bar Charles A. Thatcher who was disbarred by the supreme court two years ago. The bill, which now goes to the house, directs that all courts of record in Ohio receive him as attorney and counsellor-at-law. It is ardently supported by labor leaders. Thatcher was disbarred following a judicial campaign in which he criticised two judges who were seeking re-election.

The house, voting 59 to 26, amended the Hollinger bill so that all corporations should pay three-twentieths of 1 per cent franchise tax instead of two-twentieths, as reduced by the taxation committee. The present law provides for three-twentieths. The extra twentieth means an extra $700,000 in state revenue.

Senator Reynolds of Cuyahoga fathered the bill providing for the purchase of a farm site and a new penitentiary thereon.

The cold storage bill by Senator Deaton of Lucas was killed in the house agricultural committee, being indefinitely postponed. Opponents of the bill among commission merchants said that Ohio merchants could not compete with other states if such a bill passed. There were also objections from the farmers who did not want to go to the expense of tagging the produce.

Will Hold Their Seats.

Columbus, O., April 7.—Rights of the seven Republican members of the house from Hamilton county to their seats were officially affirmed by the house by the filing of majority and minority reports against unseating and the adoption of a resolution, submitted by the four Democratic members of the Russell committee of seven, transmitting to Secretary of State Graves the recommendation of the majority report that he remove the Hamilton county board of elections. In a general way it may be stated that the majority report blames the election board and the minority report election officers and police for law violations.

Locks Bill Up In Desk

House Threatens to Investigate Act of Message Clerk

Columbus, O., April 7.—Chris Markey, former private secretary to Harvey Garver and present message clerk of the Ohio house of representatives, is to be the object of an official inquiry by a committee of three members of the house, to be appointed by the speaker.

Representative Crosser told the house that Markey, in his capacity as message clerk, had failed to deliver to the senate an engrossed copy of the Crosser city initiative and referendum bill, which passed the house March 8.

The original bill was sent to the senate, but when Senator Greene of Dayton refused to surrender it this week after the senate committee on municipalities had recommended it for passage, Crosser had another engrossed copy sent to the senate. The senate ratified, but the bill on the calendar because Markey had the engrossed copy of the measure in his desk and had left the statehouse.

Senator Stockwell denounced Markey, declaring he had made off with the bill and intimating that many powerful lobbyists were trying to obstruct the bill's progress. After three hours' absence Markey returned and said he had been consulting an attorney relative to turning the bill over to the senate.

Torpy Objects To Giving Paroles

Neeley Does Not Take Kindly to Warden's Suggestion.

Columbus, O., April 7.—Daniel Torpy of Marietta, president of the board of managers of the penitentiary, and Lemon G. Neeley of St. Marys, a member of the board, made statements in which they announced themselves as against the plan set forth by Warden Jones to parole in the neighborhood of 500 men from the institution.

"Most nonsensical thing I ever heard of. Of course I am against it," said Mr. Neeley. Mr. Torpy did not express himself so strongly, but stated that he was not in favor of it. Mr. Neeley, however, continued to state that he did not think the people of the state would stand for this number of prisoners being released.

Murderer Ends All With Suicide

Montana Stockman Goes Gunning and Kills Four.

Billings, Mont., April 7.—Cliff Roots, an old-time stockman, murdered his father-in-law, F. A. Rehder; his stepson, James Bridges; Mrs. Thompson and his own wife, and then killed himself. A note found by officers, addressed to his former wife and written, presumably, after he killed wife No. 2, said that as she had taken his boy from him, he would take her boys away from her.

Some Members of Congress Distinguished For Other Reasons Than That They Hold Public Office.

There is an unusual pelting out of members of congress at the present extra session. When Edward W. Townsend, the new Democratic member from New Jersey, comes along, admirers who have read his eight novels, "There is the author of the Chimmie Fadden stories you read in the years and in the New York Sun." Martin W. Littleton is pointed out as the lawyer who saved Harry Thaw from the electric chair. Caleb Powers has his troubles when introduced because of his long time in jail accused of complicity in the killing of a Democratic governor in Kentucky. Butler Ames of Massachusetts always attracts the attention of strangers when they are told that he is the grandson of General Ben Butler. The gallery rise at Richmond Pearson Hobson as the hero of the Merrimac is an old story, but it keeps up with unflagging interest. Nick Longworth is a good deal of a man on his own account, but he has to bear frequent introductions with. He married Alice Roosevelt, you know.

TARIFF BOARD BILLS IN. LODGE AND LAFOLLETT EACH PRESENT MEASURE

In Less Than Two Hours 297 Bills and 10 Joint Resolutions Are Introduced in the Senate

OHIO SENATOR IS RECOGNIZED

Wisconsin Insurgent Suggests Reference as Member of Proposed Committee to Revise Inquiry Into Methods by Which Lorimer Secured Seat — Four Members Introduce Resolutions Providing For Popular Election of Senators.

Washington, April 7.—In the brief space of two hours, 297 bills and 10 joint resolutions were introduced in the senate. Two of the measures providing for a tariff commission were introduced by Senators LaFollette and Lodge.

Senator Root was the author of an important bill providing a solution of senatorial deadlocks. His bill enacts that after the legislature of a state has balloted unsuccessfully for a senator up to March 1 preceding an adjournment of the legislature, that thereafter any candidate for senator receiving a plurality of all the votes cast shall be declared elected.

Senator Gore of Oklahoma introduced a resolution calling on the treasury department to transmit to the senate copies of all contracts with the United States Express company.

To Reopen Lorimer Inquiry.

Among the important resolutions was one by Lafollette demanding a reopening of the Lorimer case and naming a committee of five senators to conduct an investigation into charges of corruption in connection with the election of Mr. Lorimer as senator. The proposed committee is composed of Senators Works of California, chairman, Townsend of Michigan, and McLean of Connecticut, all Republicans, and Kern of Indiana and Pomerene of Ohio, Democrats. The resolution will be called up Monday for consideration.

There were four resolutions proposing amendments to the federal constitution providing for popular election of senators. These were introduced by Senators Burton of Idaho, Bourne of Oregon, Bristow of Kansas and Culberson of Texas. Senator Heyburn of Idaho introduced an elaborate bill regulating the sale of cold storage products.

Senator LaFollette again introduced his bill directing the interstate commerce commission to ascertain the physical valuation of all the property of interstate carriers as a basis for adjusting freight rates. This is one of the first measures introduced by the senator when he first came to Washington, and is one of the things that he has embalmed in the statutes of Wisconsin while in the control of the political machinery of that state.

Slight Difference in Returns.

Columbus, O., April 7.—At the request of the Chamber of Commerce, Columbus pastors will preach upon the iniquity of tax-dodging, in the hope that there will be a more Christian spirit displayed in the capital city when the assessors make their next rounds. Comparison of figures furnished by insurance agents with the tax duplicate shows that property listed for taxation at $10,000,000 is insured for $100,000,000.

Cox Case Changes Base

Next Legal Battle to Take Place In Supreme Court.

Columbus, O., April 7.—The case of George B. Cox, indicted Republican boss, reached the court of appeals today when Prosecutor Hunt appeared before Judge Dickson in the common pleas court and asked for permission to file a petition in question against Judges Charles J. Kinkead and William L. Dickson of the Hamilton county common pleas court.

Hunt desired to have the supreme court enjoin Judge Hunt from acting as supervising judge of the court and assigning Cox's case to whatever judge he may desire. They want to enjoin Judge Dickson from hearing the Cox case and motions. Judge Dickson has been assigned by Judge Hunt to try the case.

After a conference with Judge Donahue, Prosecutor Hunt went to Chief Justice Spear's room, where he presented the matter to him. It was agreed that the court would hear arguments at 2 o'clock next Monday on whether or not the prosecutor would be permitted to file the petition.

REVOLT

Madero Refuses to Negotiate

And Peace With the Diaz Government Off for Good

According to the Information Given Out by the Washington Junta—No Cessation in Fight.

MANIFESTO IS PROMULGATED

Leader of Mexican Insurrectos Declares That Hostilities Will Continue Until President Diaz Resigns or Is Forced Out of Office—Reports From Southern States Indicate That Feeling of Unrest Is Spreading to Hitherto Unaffected Districts.

San Antonio, Tex., April 7.—According to a proclamation issued by [illegible] the head of the Mexican junta, which has been [illegible] by the members of the Washington [illegible] with [illegible] have been declared [illegible] will be no cessation [illegible] fighting in Mexico until Diaz [illegible] or is driven out of the [illegible]

At the same time the junta handed [illegible] approved by many revolutionists [illegible] widely separated [illegible] of Mexico, reaffirming [illegible] the leadership of Madero [illegible] promising to fight with him until [illegible] has been overturned. [illegible] Francisco Arenas and Jose Vazconcelos, the two revolutionary agents who gave the facts to the correspondents, said that the decision of the rebel chief and their pledge of support by the other chiefs of the insurrection in Mexico indicated that the revolution would now spread.

Confirmatory indications from other sources which came into San Antonio make it pretty positive that whatever grain of sincerity lay in all the chaff of the diplomatic talk about peace to be arranged between the Maderos on one hand and Senor Lamantour, representing the federal government of Mexico, has availed nothing. Indications began to be manifested several days ago that there was more of an attempt at saving political position by the peace talk than a real effort to bring about an amicable settlement of the [illegible]

Hits Rich Mining District.

The first word of a spread of the revolution into the state of Jalisco, on the Pacific side of Mexico, was brought out of the south by A. P. Woodfin, a mining engineer attached to the Buena Femina, 15 miles north of Ojuelos. Jalisco contains some of the richest mines of Mexico, and much foreign capital is invested there.

"There is no telling at what time we will have to close down our mines," said Mr. Woodfin. "I hear that the Cinco Estrellas mines, about 40 miles away from our mines, have already been closed down. All of our labor that would prove of any service is leaving us and joining the revolutionists. Every farmer in that section, with the exception of one, is in sympathy with the revolutionists, and is joining them. There has been practically no trouble in that state up to the present time, but the fuse is burning and the explosion is sure to come.

"The rebels are organized throughout that entire state, and seem to have a free hand in every section except in the cities which are fortified. Up to the present time they have confiscated nothing of the foreigners, but in a number of instances they have taken the property, where it was necessary, of the natives, but in every instance have paid for it. They are well armed, are organizing without molestation, and the officers are particular about who they take into their ranks, having many more volunteers than arms."

THE BUILDING ASSOCIATION LOCAL SAVINGS BANKS AND THE HOME BEAUTIFUL

Provide a Combination of Advantages for the Man Who Wants a Home of His Own. The New Building and Loan Association Opens Its Doors to the Public Tomorrow Night With Bright Prospects of Filling a Long-felt Want---Good Outlook for Building Season.

The newly incorporated Citizens Building and Loan Company opens tomorrow night in its quarters in the Katz building.

For years Washington has been without a Building and Loan Co. an institution which at one time flourished here and is found doing a prosperous business in most cities of any size.

The new company finds prospects most encouraging and is gratified by the many expressions of approval that have come from the business men and citizens of the town.

The organization has been effected with Auditor A. E. Henkle, President; H. G. Coffman, Vice President; Edgar Snider, Secretary; O. S. Nelson, Treasurer, and Nye Gregg, Attorney.

The office will be opened every night from 6:30 to 8:30 and the association will meet regularly every Saturday night.

The association will loan money on real estate and homes, accept time deposits and pay dividends semi-annually, but the real effort of the building and loan will be directed towards home building. These associations have led to many a man owning his own home by the loan of enough money to add to his small nest egg. With only a small amount and the aid of a loan association, a home can be bought and the principal and interest paid in installments as it would be for rent.

The advantage lies in the fact that after the installments are paid, the home is one's own instead of money gone in payment of rent and nothing to show for it.

With the establishing of a new building and loan association, the already flourishing savings department of the local banks and the coming on of the building season, the prospects for building in our city this spring indicate a record breaking year.

The Washington Herald has gone to no little expense to promote the building activities of our town and to aid the prospective home builder in its securing of a set of exclusive designs of modern homes, that are now running in "The Home Beautiful" series. Each week is shown a new design, the work of a metropolitan architect, that gives practical help to the hundreds who wish to build and have no definite plans.

These designs are chosen after much artistic study, to cover a wide field. They include a range of cost and a selection to suit diversified tastes. They are also the acme of the newest and most artistic ideas in modern architecture and show expert skill in all arrangements for comfort and convenience.

These weekly illustrations of the Home Beautiful will undoubtedly give impetus to spring building, if only from their suggestions of homes ideal in attractiveness and arrangement.

Another feature of this page, of immense use to the builder, is the number of cards which represent leading firms interested in contracting and building or in the equipment of the home.

It is of great help to the builder who is not in touch with all lines of the building business to find in connection with the plans for the Home Beautiful the name of architect, builders, the foreman, contracting plumber, the heating engineer, the painting and decorating firm to take care of that important feature of the home, the electric supply company, the installer of the electric generator, the

THE CONTRACT IS LET FOR Y. M. C. A. HOME TOTAL BEST BID $30,000

B. F. Bolin, Columbus Contractor, Lands the Job of Building the New Home---Will Not Differ in Exterior View From Published Picture.

The building committee of the Y. M. C. A., Dr. Carey Persinger and Mr. T. H. Craig, went to Columbus Thursday with authority from the Board of Directors to close the contract for the association building with B. F. Bolin, who was the lowest bidder.

There will be no change in the exterior of the building as the picture published in these columns a short time ago gives one a good idea of the building soon to grace the property immediately north of the Sharp memorial building.

The members of the committee feel well satisfied that they are giving to Washington a building that her citizens can be proud of, and that it will stand as a splendid monument to those who have made it possible. The Board of Directors have acted with great foresight and wisdom in planning a building that shall not be a burden, nor outgrow its quarters in a short time, as is the experience in many places. Ample room has been alloted the various departments for the varied features of the work. The dormitories occupy the entire third floor, but in them lies one of the most important missions of the Y. Masons Hold Top Floor

Judge Carpenter this morning decided the case of Fayette Lodge No. 107, F. & A. M., against P. J. Burke. This case is an interesting one not only because of the nice points of law involved, but because of the history associated with this ancient home of the Masons.

The building in which the old hall is located, was built by James F. Ely. Mr. Ely will be remembered by many of the older inhabitants of the city. He was one of the foremost business men in this community, in his time, always public spirited and active in every movement for the civic improvement and betterment of Washington. He was one of the chief promoters of the agitation which brought the C. H. & D. railroad through this town.

When Mr. Ely started to build the Ely block he informed the Masons in open meeting that he expected to build a home for them. He afterwards in 1868 conveyed it to them by deed, which Judge Carpenter this morning held, to be sufficient at the present time of vesting and retaining in the Masons a fee simple title. His Honor held that the deed of 1868 was designed to create a fee simple upon condition subsequent and that the present owners of the lower rooms were not the parties to make a reentry for a condition broken, but that that right existed only in J. F. Ely. It was also held by the Judge that the deed to William Rice made in 1880, excepted the third floor known as Masonic hall.

Creamer, Creamer and Thompson, attorneys, represented the Lodge and Attorney W. H. Rogers represented Burke.

The questions presented in the case were of unusual interest, especially to the legal profession, and the decision is one which settles at least for a time many vexing problems of law.

RAILWAY SHOPS

Statements that the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway was to be reorganized by the Hollins syndicate and Rockefeller interests, the receivership lifted and the main line of 5000 miles operated were made to citizens of Lima by Colonel James R. Townsend, former receiver, now a Chicago broker, who visited the city to learn the sentiment of the people on a bonus for the general shops of the new system. Colonel Townsend would give no definite statement concerning the reorganization more than it was to be a low level line, with coal-carrying facilities, which would earn good returns.

At the request of many interested business men of Washington, Mr. Frank Johnson has opened correspondence with the banking house having control of the D. T. & I. with a view to securing the shops for this city. Readers of THE HERALD will be informed of the answer as soon as received.

DRAISE IN INDIANAPOLIS

Word comes from Indianapolis, Ind. that Arthur Draise, who escaped from the State Hospital in Columbus last week, is in that city and looking for a position.

The information came from James D. Jackson, son of James O. Jackson, the janitor of the Public schools, who wrote to his father this week telling him that he had seen Arthur and talked with him. According to what Arthur told him he expects to remain in Indianapolis, where he will take up some position.

Naval Gunners Fire On New Target

Naval Experts Hoists Aeroplane Box Kites From Warships.

Norfolk, Va., April 7—Aeroplane shaped box kites were towed for some of the ships of the Atlantic fleet under fleet target practice, and somewhere about 1,000 rounds of shrapnel were fired at the kite craft. It is reported that the shooting was done by individual marksmen on the battleships and that their aim did not disappoint their superior officers.

The kites were made fast to the ships and permitted to soar to a height of 500 feet. Then the gunners on the decks picked them to pieces with shrapnel. It was the first time that aerial targets were ever fired at by warships.

A Bird's Paradise.

Gaunt and bare, Hallin Island rises boldly from the sea at the most easterly point of Anglesey. Its coast, torn and discolored by the waves, offer scant welcome to the explorer, but there are several places at which a landing may be made from a small boat.

Naturalists will not object to the forbidding appearance of this half-mile length of rock at which the timid look askance. Neglected of man, it is the chosen home of thousands and thousands of birds which share its solitude with a few sheep and scores of rabbits. Hallin Island has more than one name. The Welsh call it Ynys Seiriol, or the Island of St. Seiriol, who had a hermitage there, and it is also known as Priestholme (the priest's island).

Herding in the center of the island are the flocks of auks, both the common guillemot and the razorbill, the latter of which is the more numerous. Most in numbers is the puffin—and in the majority it has given its name to the place. This curious looking bird, so unsightly on land, rolls on the waves wonderfully and dives as surely as any other bird can. Come upon it suddenly as it plunges deep into the water and your boat has gone a long distance ahead before it comes to the surface again. In some places the puffin is called the sea parrot, and in appearance it is not unlike pretty poll.

Stormy petrels find a resting place in this grim retreat, gulls are common, razor bills, cormorants, curlews and divers add to the population, ravens have been met with and the peregrine falcon. Among these rare specimens the pigeon excites no remark.

Exceedingly curious is the clamor made by these creatures during the breeding time. On might imagine one's self in the house of commons during a "scene" in which wild words and incoherent sentences are hurled about. Only there is no Speaker to quell the tumult and restore order.—London Evening Standard.

BREACH WIDENS BETWEEN FRANCE AND THE CZAR

Germany's Hand Seen In Many Complications Which Arise.

PARIS (Special)—In spite of all official denials the gap between France and Russia is widening and there is nothing on the top side of the green earth to stop it.

This hunch has gradually been resolving itself into a great big fact for the last few weeks and most of France's unofficial "great men" of the day admit it.

Of course the Foreign Minister every day comes out with a strong denial that there is anything wrong with the alliance between this country and the Czar's.

But one thing after another is happening to prove that Germany statesmanship has put a good one "over the plan" and both France and England are the "goats."

Several senators and quite a few deputies have "interpolated" demanding to know just where France stands after all this talk, but nobody has ever found out exactly what he wanted to know.

"Richon of the Foreign office, is a wise man. When a bunch of lawmakers shoot a few hot questions at him such as "France's Russia left us completely in the cold and taken sides with Germany?" the answer is "Yes. It does look like rain" and there you are.

The lawmaking group howl that they have asked a question and want an answer. M. Pichon smiles diplomatically and says, quietly, "Gentlemen, I have given you one."

What can they do about it?

Students of international politics say, or think they see in the recent Potsdam interview where the Kaiser buried a while with the Czar, grave possibilities.

In the event, which came tumbling one after the other following this interview, the same men see their first premises vindicated.

In the event of war both England and France are already defeated in the first battle, wise ones say, and it is the first battle which sometimes decides things.

General Bonnal, one of the best authorities in France on such matters, declares that the Franco-Russian alliance is at an end.

"Russia came to us," he said, "because she was not satisfied with the treaty of Berlin and France, she thought, was keenly desirous of revenge for the talking by Germany of Alsace and Lorraine. The alliance was formed therefore, for an equitable object.

But little by little Russia has tired waiting for France to make the move the move which France has got dared to make.

The Dreyfus affair came along paralyzing our offensive forces, and the war with Japan weakened Russia so she no longer thinks of getting vengeance for the treaty of Berlin. So the end of the treaty has come.

"If a war with Germany should come, France would have to fight alone. Russia has suffered a change of heart."

So, in the teeth of all the denials that all is well as a dinner bell between the old friends, the fact remains that the Russian troops which for years hovered about the German frontier have been withdrawn, leaving Germany free to concentrate her forces on the French frontier—a thing she could not do before with Russia ready to bounce her at the psychological moment.

All these things are being shouted out loud in the French Chamber of Deputies and in the senate. The "interpellants" declare that Germany has put arc cier at Potsdam, on the Russian frontier, at Flushing, and all the way round. Germany diplomacy they say has caught the rest of Europe napping. France worst of all since France is the next door neighbor and at the same time Germany's only real enemy on the continent.

Peas on Toast

To prepare peas nicely for service on toast is one of the simplest methods of cooking them. Take a can of peas and after heating them drain off a little of the liquor and season the balance with pepper and salt.

At the last moment before serving add a little rich cream, pour over thin slices of buttered toast, and sprinkle lightly with paprika. This dish is quite as attractive as it is tasty and easy to prepare for a luncheon course.

The Italian government is fostering experiments in the raising of cotton in that country, which now imports more than $50,000,000 worth each year.

MOVING PICTURES IN SUBWAYS.

Moving pictures are produced, as is well known, by a film traveling with intermittent motion before a projector or lantern, which throws successive views on the screen. The same result could be obtained if the picture were stationary and the audience kept moving, so as to view the pictures successively. An ingenious inventor has hit upon this scheme to relieve the monotony of subway travel. He proposes to mount a continuous band of pictures at each side of the subway and have these pictures successively illuminated by means of lamps placed behind them. The effects of the flames would be successively cloaked by means of a shoe upon the passing car engaging contact plates at each side of the track.—Scientific American.

A PECULARITY OF DREAMS.

As to dreams, there was a discussion at the club lunch and one man remarked that no man dreamed of himself as braver than he is. When the dream came, the dreamer was always the under-dog. He was in horrible danger, and never did anything picturesque to face it. There may be men who are brave in their sleep. But it would be interesting to find one man outside of the dozen sleeping cowards who is a hero in a dream.

SPRING FEVER.

When the boy shoots marbles and the girl skips the rope and neither one finds the game sufficient to the soul; when youth is languid and pensive in the hot sunshine and sighs under the moon; when grown men and women complain of lassitude and are weary for they know not what—that is spring fever. It is not exactly a fever in the blood; it marks the time when nature bids man prepare his body for the summer's heat; to cleanse and purify it; eliminate the waste and tone it up.

The wise man will begin shortly to cut down his usual ration of nitrogenous foods. He will go short on meats and long on vegetables. He will seek the air and out-of-door exercise, ,de will take life as easily as may be and cultivate the reflective mood of the philosopher, but he will not loaf and fret inertly on the broad of his back. That way real fever lies.

The proper tonic for spring fever is a leaner diet, gentle exercise in the open air and a spirit aloof from care. Such a spirit may be resolutely cultivated by the business of men. Plain work has never killed any man; worry over the work has buried thousands. And without work of some kind no man can be truly happy; if he is not happy he is not successful; he can never be successful without congenial employment without congenial employment of hand or brain.—Philadelphia Press.

THE EXPERIMENT.

The most observed, at the present time, of all legislative bodies, is the lower house of the United States Congress.

For the first time in sixteen years the national house of representatives is in the absolute control of the Democratic party which, during the sixteen years last past, has bitterly opposed from the minority side of the house, under able lead ership, many of the legislative enactments of the majority party.

Aside from the one subject of tariff reduction, perhaps the most criticized features of the Republican control were the rules governing that body originated by the late Thos. B. Reed of Maine, and amplified and enforced with an iron hand by the speaker, who has just surrendered the gavel—the Hon. Joseph G. Cannon, of Illinois.

The majority party in the House during the last sixteen years has insisted that only under those rules could progress in legislation be made. On the other hand it was just as emphatically contended by the minority, under the leadership of the Hon. Champ Clark, of Missouri, most of that sixteen years, that the rules, as interpreted and enforced by Speaker Cannon, resulted in lodging governmental control in the hands of the few and destroying the very purpose for which the national house was created.

After a continuous warfare of years, the people of the nation have given that minority control and the champion opponent of the Reed-Cannon rules has been elevated to the speaker's chair.

Since the time of Thos. B. Reed, of Maine, who preceded Chas. Crisp, of Georgia, as speaker of the house, the rules which have become, at least for the present, obnoxious to the people, have been the governing law of Congress.

A change from these rules is now, if promises are kept, about to undergo a trial and the result of that trial is being watched with great interest the world over, and particularly in this country.

The former majority—now the minority—is confidently expecting and predicting failure and chaos unless the rules of Reed and Cannon are retained.

On all sides there exists a feeling that after all Speaker Clark may not be able to control the present majority without resort to Reed and Cannon measures.

Much depends on the result of this experiment. Much for the party which has just been invested with control, much for the men who have been placed in responsible positions and much for the people of the land.

No one desires but the ideal way is to allow the people's representatives in Congress free rein to run the machine, but can they do it?

The nation is waiting anxiously the answer which must come by demonstration and not by words.

Action is the only thing which will count now.

The Democratic party has promised much. Can it deliver the goods?

In matters of legislation as well as other matters the aggressive positive side is much more liable to ere than the side which, not charged with grave responsibility of action, can point out a better way than the one adopted.

For the first time in sixteen years, the men who have acted, take a back seat, and the men who have said that much of the action was wrong—fundamentally wrong—have been given the reins of power.

It is no wonder the experiment is attracting widespread attention.

POETRY FOR TODAY

ANSWERING AN INQUISITIVE PERSON

Just because you're gentle,
Just because you're true,
Just because you're 4 years old
Explains why I love you.
Just because you're merry,
Just because you play,
I love you, little lady,
More and more each day.

There are many reasons
Why I love you so,
Just because with sunshine
You are all aglow;
Just because you're tiny,
Just because you're sweet,
Just because, dear lady,
You make my life complete.

What's the use of talking,
Everything you do,
Serves to heap the measure
Of my love for you.
Just because you're playful,
Just because you're fair,
And I love you, baby,
Just because you're mine.

Fears Another Brownsville Affair

Negro Troops Will Remain In San Antonio For Present.

San Antonio, Tex., April 7.—General William H. Carter, in command of the division of mobilized troops at Fort Sam Houston, received an order from the war department advising him that the order detaching the Ninth cavalry of colored troopers from his command had been suspended. The Ninth will not move from San Antonio for the present, at least to do patrol duty along the border as part of the command of the department of Texas.

The latest order from the war department gave as the only reason for the suspension of its previous order the fact that the Third cavalry, which has done patrol duty along the Rio Grande since December, is much more acquainted with the country to be patrolled than a new regiment could be, and therefore more competent to fulfill the object for which it has been assigned to duty.

No More Constipation WHEE!

It's Me for Olive Tablets!

That is the testimony of thousands who have taken Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets for constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel but olive oil, a healthful laxative itself.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated tablets.

They cause the bowels and liver to act normal. They never force them to unnatural action.

It is easy to compel bowel and liver activity for a time with calomel and nasty, sickening, griping cathartic oils, but the after effects are dangerous, and the real cause of the trouble is often not even touched.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are so easy to take that children do not regard them as "medicine" at all.

They never gripe.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Olive Tablets at bedtime. They're perfectly harmless.

Thousands take one every night just to keep right. Try them.

All druggists sell Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets in convenient pocket packages.

Denious Taken To Workhouse

Made No Protest But Said He is 68 Years Old Now and Will be 72 When He is Released---Relates an Interesting Incident of Boyhood Days.

Clark Denious, convicted of furnishing whiskey on two counts and fined $700 and costs, was removed to the Xenia work house this morning on the C. H. & D. train, under the escort of Officer Haggard.

Denious was to have been removed from the county jail to Xenia yesterday, but claimed he was ill. This morning he was up bright and early and ready to make the trip. Not a word did he say in protest against going, but on his way to the train under the escort of Chief Devaney he became very talkative and said: "Well, I am now 68 years of age, and it looks like I will be 72 years old when I get out, if I live to get out".

Speaking of his childhood days and his surroundings, Denious said: "When I was a kid my father kept a grocery and when he wished to get rid of me he would place a piece of candy on the counter and say: "Now don't you touch that you young heathen," and when he turned his back I would seize the candy and run."

Denious was in the best of spirits, but asked no leniency, nor did he speak a word of paying the fine or even a part of it. He was what one would call "game". Owing to his advanced age the confinement will be very severe upon him.

PUBLIC LIBRARY LOOTED BY BOLD BURGLAR

Unknown Miscreant Searches Library From Top to Bottom Smashes Closet Door and Takes $6.80 From Cash Box, Leaving Ruin and Confusion in His Wake---Police Have Slight Clew Which May Lead to the Thief's Capture---A Trail of Matches Marked Burglar's Path.

Some time between 10 o'clock last night and day-break this morning an unknown burglar entered the Public library, broke down a closet door and relieved the cash box of its contents, ransacked the desks and drawers, scattered books and papers in all directions, and made his escape without attracting attention, leaving behind a very slight clew as to his identity.

This morning at 7 o'clock when Mr. Gardner, the janitor, went to the library to do the morning work there before the opening hour, he found every evidence that someone had gained an entrance by one of the basement windows, or through the basement door, and searched the library from top to bottom in an effort to locate the cash box and other valuables, and had been successful.

As Mr. Gardner came up street he was met by a HERALD reporter who accompanied him to the library, made a brief examination, and then called Chief Devaney in to make an examination before the library was opened to the public at nine o'clock.

Entering through the basement window or door, which was an easy matter, as several of the windows were left slightly ajar to admit air to the heating plant, and the door itself was unlocked, the burglar had made his way to the librarian's office and searched the place for the cash box, which has been kept in a small closet in one end of the room. Everything was scattered about in utmost confusion, and the closet door had been splintered and broken in by a heavy kick.

The cash box was left on a chair and its contents, $6.80 had disappeared, a single cent remaining under the box. A small bank had been torn apart and several pennies removed. Nothing else was stolen, but every drawer in the desks, both in the office and the main rooms of the library, had been thoroughly searched for money or valuables, and books, papers, etc., left lying on the floor and stacked upon the desks.

The search was hurried but thorough. An article picked up on the floor was the only clew, and while it is a very small clew it may lead to the following capture. Local talent is suspected.

Janitor Gardner stated that when he left the library last night he almost bumped into a man who was in the act of crossing the backyard near the rear entrance. The man started back and slunk away as quickly as possible. He was of medium height, dressed in dark clothes and wore a dark hat. Mr. Gardner did not know the man, but it is believed that he is the man who turned the trick. A foot prints gave evidence of such a man. Dozens of half burnt safety matches were found scattered on the floor.

It has been the custom to leave small amounts of money in the library over night, but luckily a small sum that was in one of the drawers had just been turned over to the board.

Mrs. Johnson, assistant librarian, was in charge last night and did not notice anything strange or suspicious characters about the building.

While the case is still a mystery the police have made a good start toward running the burglar to earth, and the arrest may come at any time, although it is a very hard case to work. No action had been taken by the library board up to the time this was written.

Cases Decided In Common Pleas Court

A number of cases were decided by Judge Carpenter in the Court of Common Pleas this morning, among them being the case of Olive Blake, ley against the city of Washington, to detach some 27 acres of land from the corporation.

The court held that inasmuch as nearly all of the lands were platted farm lands, all but a small tract fronting 200 feet on Elm street and 300 feet on Willard street, should be withdrawn from the corporation.

In the case of Hersh vs. West, the demurrers filed by the defendant was overruled.

RUNAWAY TEAMS CAUSE GREAT EXCITEMENT

Early this morning two teams attached to heavy wagons loaded with brick and wire, became frightened and ran wildly through the streets, but were eventually stopped before any serious damage was done.

The first team was that of Elmer Zimmerman, who lives north of this city on the Prairie pike, and who was loading brick near the D. T. & I. depot. A passing train frightened the horses and they started up the track toward Court street, colliding with a team belonging to T. F. Parrett, of the Chillicothe pike. This team was standing back of C. F. Burnham's carriage factory where the wagon was being loaded with wire fencing.

When the Zimmerman team struck them they plunged in the opposite direction, and made up Market street turning south on Main.

The other team ran up Court street, and several persons were compelled to flee to the sidewalks for safety. By the coolness of men on the street both teams were brought to a standstill, little worse for their mad run.

Denman And Day Land Good Jobs

Denman Named as District Attorney in Northern Ohio.

Washington, April 7.—William L. Day of Cleveland to be United States judge for the northern district of Ohio; U. G. Denman of Toledo to be United States district attorney for the northern district of Ohio.

These appointments were determined upon and sent to the senate by President Taft as the solution of the prolonged controversy over the judgeship.

Mr. Day, who is a son of Justice Day of the United States supreme court, is now district attorney. His promotion to the bench creates a vacancy which the president felt should go to Mr. Denman, who had been placed in a somewhat embarrassing position by being pushed forward by his friends as a candidate for the judgeship.

Mrs. F. Miller Powerful in Pantomime.

One of the most interesting features of Mr. Miller's powerful acting in "The Havoc" is a wonderful piece of pantomime he does in the big scene of the first act. From the moment he stumbles on the evidence that his home has been invaded until he pretends to leave the room, Mr. Miller does not speak a word, yet the big audiences each night are held breathless for seven minutes watching the play of expression on the actor-manager's mobile face that tells them a powerful situation is about to occur. Without uttering a word, almost without a gesture, Mr. Miller holds his audience with an iron grip. It is the most amazing piece of acting Broadway has seen for years.

EASTER BAZAR.

Miss Elsie Craig's Sunday school class will hold a bazar at Parrett's grocery Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Everything in homemade edibles and candies etc.

In the early days of Switzerland, when the people were more accustomed to mountain climbing than they are now, a guide who would engage to take a party to the top of the highest mountain in the vicinity was considered a very important person. He was asked to name an absent man who he thought he might not well make some inquiries about the guide who was to accompany them.

"Is he a thoroughly skilful climber?" he asked his interlocutor.

"I should say so!" was the reply. "He has lost two parties of tourists down mountainside and each time has come off without so much as a scratch on himself."

To Hold Down Curtains

Short white curtains which are not looped back with curtain cord are liable to blow out of the window when the room is being aired, and at all times when not newly laundered hang limply and untidily. If three brass or crocheted rings are sewed in the bottom of each curtain and attached to furniture hooks screwed into the window sill the curtains will hang neatly without looking stiff.

SABINA BOOTLEGGERS FOUND HALF-WAY GUILTY

Peculiar Decision of Mayor Barns---S. T. Grove and Dr. S. E. Lawrence Found Guilty of Keeping Place Where Liquor Was Sold, But Charge of Receiving Consignments Under False Markings Causes Muddle.

Can a man be found guilty of receiving intoxicants under a false and fictitious name when there is no name on the consignment? This is the question raised by Attorney Frank Chaffin of this city, who, with Attorney W. B. Rogers, represented S. T. Grove and R. E. Lawrence, of Sabina, who were charged with conducting a "blind tiger" under the guise of a drug store, and from which place of business a dray load of booze was removed February 20th.

The case was tried in Sabina a few days ago, and has attracted the interest of thousands of people. Mayor Barns, in his decision, divided the second count in the affidavit against the two men, who plainly speaking, the defendants were found half-way guilty of receiving intoxicating liquors under a false and fictitious name, and not guilty of keeping a place where intoxicants were sold contrary to law, and upon this count they were found guilty. The second count charging the defendants with receiving liquor marked "glass" and also three barrels of bottle whiskey and other packages of whiskey without any mark or name indicating what the barrels and packages did contain, the same being contrary to Section 13,216 of the General Code and against the peace and dignity of the state of Ohio.

Mayor Barnes eliminated the clause stating that part of the consignment had been marked "glass", and found the men guilty of receiving intoxicating liquors under a false and fictitious name or marking.

After finding the defendants guilty Mayor Barns stated that he also wanted to call attention to two former cases against S. T. Grove in which he was found guilty in 1909, in both of which he was fined $100 and costs, and wherein sentence was suspended, providing Grove quits the drug business. Mayor Barns was of the opinion that judgment should be passed on the old cases, but the defendants attorneys secured a stay and obtained an injunction against any such action upon the part of Mayor Barns.

A bill of exceptions was filed and the case carried to the Common Pleas court of Clinton county, and the question of finding a new half-way guilty verdict will be decided by the higher court.

"Quo Vadis" Cause Of Lippincott Suicide

Auto-Suggestion Theory In Lippincott Suicide.

Philadelphia, April 7.—Coroner Dugdale today announced that he would not hold an inquest over the body of Philip Lippincott, the publisher, who committed suicide in his office Wednesday afternoon.

Friends of the family, however, attribute the suicide to auto-suggestion. Mr. Lippincott and members of his family having attended the opera "Quo Vadis" a few hours before he ended his life, and it is urged that the tragic scene in which Petronius, tiring of life, orders his physician to open the veins of his wrist that he may die, made such a strong impression on the publisher's mind that he decided that life was not worth living.
